Adam joins Wyse Corp, as no stranger to the environmental and sustainability difficulties facing the planet.

We welcome him onto the team and appreciate the expertise and passion he brings to the table for sustainable development - a driving force in Wyse's mission to make a lasting, zero-emissions impact on the Asia Pacific region.

With his published objective to eradicating extreme poverty by fostering sustainable economic growth through financial development & the implementation of a social protections systems through a variety of financing strategies including public spending partnerships & private sector investments while protecting the planet.

His guidance will be instrumental in fostering eco-friendly growth, reducing carbon footprint, and promoting environmentally responsible practices.

As a pioneering consultant, Adam led the design of the 'Autonomous Bougainville Government (ABG) & National Government' joint initiative, focusing on post-referendum reconciliation, peace building, and social justice protection.

He has secured financing guarantees for landowners to participate in equity negotiations, marking a significant milestone in Papua New Guinea's development, and provided advisory support to the Department of Labour & Industrial Relations (DLIR) on labour marketing information systems and national executive council decisions, showcasing his expertise as a financing expert and government advisor.

Adam has undergone specialized training in Advanced Social Security/Protection Training (Design & Financing) from the United Nations Training College, Turin, Italy, as well as a Child Labour and Human Trafficking workshop in Nandi, Fiji, and Project Scoping, Concepts, Designs, and Financing training from the International Labour Organization (ILO) Headquarters.

Adam's expertise and passion make him a valuable asset in driving sustainable economic growth and implementing social protection systems in Papua New Guinea.
